I'm concerned about my child's development! How can I access this service?

The first step you may take is to discuss your concerns with your child's pediatrician. You can also call Tri-Counties Regional Center, to request an evaluation for your child. Once Early Birds receives the referral, we will reach out to you to set up an evaluation. If your child is found eligible, we will meet with you and your service coordinator to develop collaborative strategies based upon your areas of concern that address your child's interactions and developmental growth.

How much does this cost?

Services are free for eligible children aged 0-3 in Santa Barbara and Ventura Counties.
